

Editors and Authors

Editors

Orsolya Lelkes is an economic policy analyst and research fellow at the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research, Vienna. Research interests: welfare, income distribution, poverty, economics of happiness, social interactions.
Email: lelkes@euro.centre.org

Holly Sutherland is a research professor at the Institute for Social and Economic Research (ISER), University of Essex, UK. She coordinates EUROMOD, the tax–benefit microsimulation model for the EU, and her research interests are in developing microsimulation as a tool for international comparative research, the distributional effects of social policies, and child poverty measurement and analysis.
Email: hollys@essex.ac.uk

István György Tóth is an economic sociologist and general director of TÁRKI Inc. He also lectures at the Department of Sociology and Social Policy, Corvinus University of Budapest. Research interests: the economics and sociology of social policy, social security, poverty and income inequality.
Email: toth@tarki.hu

Terry Ward is an economist and managing director of Alphametrics (UK) and director of research at Applica (Belgium). Research interests: employment and labour markets, social protection and social inclusion, income distribution, regional development.
Email: tw@applica.be

Authors

Francesco Figari is a senior research officer at the Institute for Social and Economic Research (ISER), University of Essex, UK. He works on EUROMOD development and his research interests are in fiscal microsimulation, labour supply modelling and the effects of public policies on poverty and deprivation.
Email: ffigar@essex.ac.uk

Manos Matsaganis is assistant professor of social and employment policy at the Athens University of Economics and Business (Department of International and European Economics). His research interests include tax–benefit models, the economic analysis of public policy, and the political economy of welfare reform.
Email: matsaganis@aueb.gr

Márton Medgyesi is a sociologist and economist, researcher at TÁRKI and lecturer at the Corvinus University of Budapest. Fields of research: income distribution and poverty, economic decisions of households, private and public intergenerational transfers.
Email: medgyesi@tarki.hu

Alari Paulus is a senior research officer at the Institute for Social and Economic Research (ISER), University of Essex, UK. He works on EUROMOD development and his research interests are in the distributional effects of tax-benefit policies, optimal tax design and tax evasion.

Email: apaulus@essex.ac.uk

Lucinda Platt is a senior lecturer at the Institute for Social and Economic Research (ISER), University of Essex. A quantitative sociologist, her research focuses on ethnicity and ethnicity differences in child poverty, social mobility, pay and social participation, as well as on contemporary and historical social policy. She leads the ethnicity strand for Understanding Society, the UK Household Longitudinal Study.

Email: lplatt@essex.ac.uk

Péter Szivós is an economist and managing director of TÁRKI Inc. Research interests: poverty, income distribution, inequality, microsimulation.

Email: szivos@tarki.hu

Gerlinde Verbist is a senior researcher at the Centre for Social Policy (University of Antwerp, Belgium). She has a PhD in Applied Economics. Her main research interests include microsimulation modelling and applications, measurement of income inequality and redistribution, taxation, and the interaction between migration and the welfare state.

Email: gerlinde.verbist@ua.ac.be

Printed and bound by Gyoma Kner Press Co., in the 127th year of its foundation.
CEO: Lajos Papp
P.O. Box 7, H-5500 Gyomaendrőd, Hungary
Tel.: +36 66 887-400
Internet: www.gyomaikner.hu; Email: knernyomda@gyomaikner.hu